JUNIOR

The Homecoming Festivities began Wed. Oct. 9, when the Seniors challenged the Juniors in a crazy pre-homecoming assembly. There were various events, such as: tricycle races, passing oranges from under your chin, spinning around on a bat, and hitting apples down the track. It was hard to determine the actual winner, but everyone had a great time. During the day Wed., the Seniors dressed as they did during the 50's. Everyone looked very authentic! Work began on the flats after school Thursday. Each class and organization did only one side of the flats. Sweepstakes was won by the JUNIOR Class. First prize for organizations went to the Student Council. First prize for the classes went to the Sophomore Class. Thursday night at 7:30 was the Bonfire. The band played, the cheerleaders yelled, and spirits rose! Then finally the three queen candidates came riding out and it was announced that the queen was Cheri Holmberg. The court consisted of Joanie Thicksten and Rhonda Port. The princesses were: Marcia Chamberlain, Sue Damhoff, and Chris Peed. All day Friday final touches were added to the flats. School was dismissed early so preparations for the parade could begin. That night at the game, the PROPHETS were victorious over Erie. Following the game there was a dance until 11:30. Many kids went and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. We think we'll do it again next year!

SQUAD A and B

The 1974-75 Girls Basketball team this year is consisted of 28 girls who were willing to sacrifice many hard and long hours to go to practices. As usual, the girls practiced at many different locations, depending on whatever gym was left available.

The games were played at the Lyndon Jr. High School and attracted many fans who backed the team throughout their 10 game season.

The coach, Miss Mayer, went through many roles of tape this year, taping up the sore legs and trying to keep the teams in tip, top shape.

This year the girls basketball teams looked very nice in the new orange uniforms. It made the teams look more like a team compared to the gym uniforms used last year.

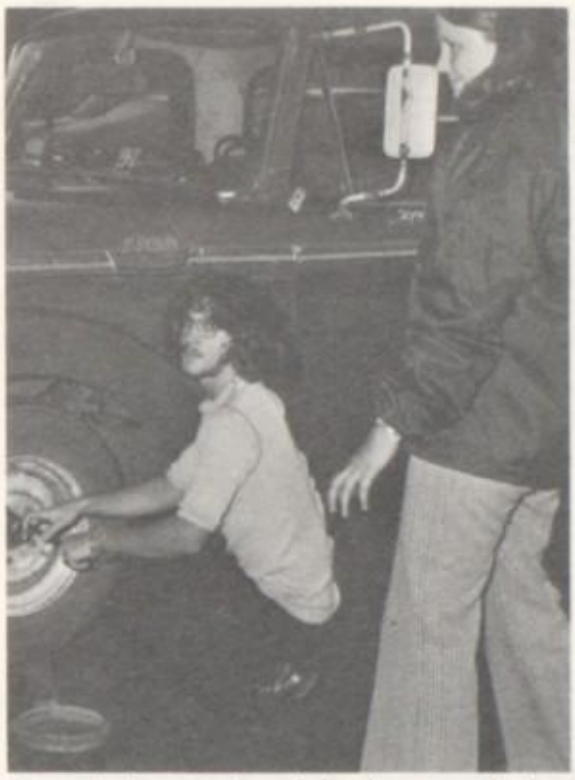
Co-Editor Sally laughingly signs her John Hancock on a page.

Libby and co-editor Annette, faithfully Keep on working.

Marla is happily doing her job, but Cathy isn't too sure what she's doing!

Cathy, Annette, and Libby listen to Miss Ballew's strict orders!



Boyce helps out when Sally discovers she has a flat!

What strange expressions . . .

Ronda and Cathy work on the yearbook, but look at Smoke Signals too.

Ronda seems to know something we don't know!

Marla works diligently (HA HA HA)

Mr. Dee, Superintendent

Another school year has now passed us by and the achievements are now recorded. I would once again like to remind the young people of this school that one of the most important parts of life is to gain a good education. The late Dr. John Bain Sutherland, the much admired football coach of the University of Pittsburg, said it in the following words. "Your school work, and I mean work, now as before and after, comes first; unless your marks are maintained, you cannot play football, because you will become ineligible and I shall be required to take your suit away from you. But even if this were not so, I would urge you to keep in mind that your education comes first. You are in school for the sole purpose of getting an education that will enable you to live a more useful life." If the Class of "75" has learned their lessons well they will take a useful place in our society.
